

Given a grid with n rows and m columns, where each number shows how many of the nine-squares- the one with the number plus the eight neighbours around it should be filled with black color.